A Lawrence company headed by a Hutchinson native is featured in the October issue of Vogue.

The company is RevitalVision, which is a computer-based program for improving vision in post-cataract, presbyopia and other patients.

Its CEO is Dennis Depenbusch, a Hutchinson native and University of Kansas graduate. He has been involved in a number of start-up operations and served as Entrepreneur in Residence for the Kansas Technology Enterprise Corp.

RevitalVision was among 11 companies to give presentations investors at the Wichita Great Plains Capital Conference in August.
